

"What I think we are trying to do is come to a determination: will this nominee try to impose her views, rather than the views of the consensus of America as to where we should be going? That is what interpreting the law is all about."

Senator Charles Schumer
November 6, 2003